FIREWOOD ALERT (2010)

A firewood quarantine has been established for much of the state of Virginia. It is unlawful to transport firewood from these localities: Arlington, Fairfax, Fauquier, Louden and Prince William Counties. In general, firewood can harbor insect pests under the bark and in the wood. The transport of infested firewood has been identified as a leading cause in the introduction of harmful forest insects into un-infested forest areas. The best way to prevent a new infestation of these invasive pests is to get your firewood AFTER arrival at your destination. Help us keep our parks pest free by leaving your firewood at home.
